Marjorie Moreno began her career at Thomas, Thomas & Hafer in December of 2020 as a member of the firm's workers' compensation practice group in the Camp Hill office.

Originally from Lima, Peru, Marjorie graduated from Juniata College earning a Bachelor of Arts with a double major in International Political Economy and Spanish Literature. After college, she worked as a legal assistant for the workers' compensation department of the Martin Law Firm in Philadelphia.

In 2020, Marjorie graduated cum laude from Widener Commonwealth School of Law and obtained a Business Advising Certificate with honors. During her study at Widener, she was a senior editor for the Widener Commonwealth Law Review and a competitor for the Widener's National Trial Team Competition.

Before joining Thomas, Thomas & Hafer, Marjorie clerked for Saidis, Shultz & Fisher and served as a judicial intern for the Honorable Leonard G. Brown, III at the Lancaster County Court of Common Pleas. Marjorie authored a survey, Parking Detour: Misunderstanding the Optional Requirement for Parking Lot Cases in Workers' Compensation, which was selected for publication in the Widener Commonwealth Law Review, Volume 30.

Outside of work, Marjorie enjoys spending time with her family and her dog, dancing, playing board games and volleyball.
